Clovernook Center for the Blind & Visually Impaired Announces 2019 Summer Camp Schedule

CINCINNATI – Clovernook Center for the Blind & Visually Impaired (Clovernook Center) is proud to announce summer camps for youth ages 4-25 who are blind, visually impaired, or physically or intellectually disabled.

“Clovernook Center summer camps use fun and engaging learning activities to help each child develop to their full potential,” said Chris Faust, President and CEO at Clovernook Center. “We give kids and young adults the chance to participate in activities they may not otherwise have the opportunity to do, like going to a Reds game or swimming, while making friends that will last a lifetime.”

Day camps include community adventures like swimming, bowling, family involvement as well as opportunities to learn about technology available for the blind and visually impaired. Attendees will also learn lessons to develop skills for daily living to promote independence, creative arts, and orientation and mobility. Summer camp session dates are as follows:
